From the Editor's Desk

It's a matter of proud for us that Anudhyan: An International Journal of Social Science is, however, maintaining the regularity of its annual publication with all paraphernalia. The present volume tries to spread fresh light on diverse areas from literature to social and contemporary issues with the perceptive articles included here. Dr. Rina Pal discusses a very sensitive and necessary issue: 'Human Trafficking'. The concept of human trafficking refers to the criminal practice of exploiting human beings by treating them like commodities for profit through various ways exclusively for sexual slavery, forced labour and for the extraction of organs. It is a very serious problem existing in every corner of the world. In the context of Indian classical philosophy, the concept of 'Jnana' is wider and deeper than its Western synonymous term 'Knowledge'. Gargi Medda's article on the concept of 'Jnana' will surely enjoy a good readership in this matter. Neelanjana Chakraborty writes, 'Freedom is a self-expansion without any relationship of subjugation and domination'. Her essay "Education for Freedom and Self realization" is innovative to some extent as it tries to bind up education and philosophy to elucidate the approach. Amit Kumar Das aptly focuses on the socio-economic context of Chandimangal from the Marxist angle. The volume also covers the interesting areas like music and cultural studies.
